1. Introduction

Version 0.20.5 represents Apache FOP's current stable release. Even though it's over two years old this release will stay the first choice for those who want a stable product for use in production environments, at least for another few months until the code from out redesign effort has stabilized enough. This shouldn't keep you off trying out the redesigned code, though.

Please notice that, although we still provide support for 0.20.5, we won't fix any bugs or add any new features to this branch of development anymore. Instead, please help us with FOP Trunk by trying it out and sending us your feedback. Of course, we especially appreciate any contributions in the form of documentation updates and code patches.
